18. Essay:

I am extremely interested in question two because I believe it would help those individuals whose ultimate aim is foiled due to their inability to conquer the challenges they are engulfed in. More importantly, my story reveals that I will not be affected by any challenges, even if I face problems while pursuing my studies there, should I be selected. The question, in fact, is about the lesson we take from the obstacles we encounter, which can be fundamental to later success. Recount a time when you faced a challenge, setback, or failure. How did it affect you, and what did you learn from the experience?Challenges and problems have always hindered human beings from realizing their ultimate goals throughout history. In light of this, it is unquestionable that feelings of frustration and confusion arise when challenges occur, preventing a person from accomplishing their goal. Honestly speaking, this philosophy was instilled in my mind and heart when I was a fifth-grade student. At that time, my mother told me, "It is not the current problems that will determine your ultimate goal rather, it is your ability and commitment that will lead you to achieve your dream." My mother gave me this incredible advice because we, together, faced many challenges that almost forced me to drop out of school and seek jobs to address our food problems.However, I was determined to overcome the challenges and continue my education. As long as I played football, I went to Janmeda, a place where many football projects were located, to speak with the coach of the Abyssinia football club. After telling him of my interest in joining the club, he allowed me to become a member. I earned 300 birr per month, but that was not enough to address my financial challenges and continue my schooling. Therefore, I decided to work as a shoeshiner. My coach gave me 100 birr to buy the necessary equipment so I could start working after school and training.A terrible setback occurred in my life when my mother was fired from her job as a cleaner at Moha Soft Drink Company. At the same time, Abyssinia football club, where I had been paid 300 birr per month, ceased its operations. I now needed to find more money to cover rent, food, and my school expenses. Even though I was overwhelmed with many challenges that could have hindered my dreams, I did not stop attending school. I began working as a shopkeeper at night, four days per week. Despite the challenges, I was able to complete both my undergraduate and master's degrees. Through this experience, I realized that not only financial problems, but any challenges, will not prevent a person from achieving their ultimate goal so, long as they understand that challenges are inevitable.
